YOUR GOVERNMENT

Thank you for your interest in how New Jersey's 21 counties works. Understanding your local government, the services it provides, and how to access those services is a good way to learn about what we can do for you, even before you are eligible to vote.

ABOUT NEW JERSEY'S COUNTIES:

What is the purpose of a county? The purpose of a county is to improve the daily lives of its residents. The people who live, work, and play in Camden County are our highest priority, so nearly everything county employees and elected commissioners do flows from our responsibility to maintain and improve things, like public safety and health, roads and bridges, transportation, and economic conditions. We want to help everyone who calls Camden County home to live here in safety and with dignity.

Why are counties created? Traffic and roads in need of repair have always been a reoccurring issue in the Garden State. When New Jersey was first settled in the 1600s, travel was difficult, and citizens needed to be able to access government services wherever they lived statewide. Counties provide us with the convenience of being able to conduct official business within a few miles, rather than hours away. Fun facts: New Jersey's first county – Essex County – was established in 1681, while Union County was the last to be established, in 1857. Camden County was established in 1844.

How many counties are in NJ? There are 21 counties in the state of New Jersey. In alphabetical order, they are: Atlantic, Bergen, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Essex, Gloucester, Hudson, Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Ocean, Passaic, Salem, Somerset, Sussex, Union, and Warren.

How is a county different from a municipality or city? Think of a state as a set of nesting boxes; at the center, the smallest box is a municipality. Municipalities are the villages, boroughs, townships, and cities that people live and work in. The next-largest box is a county, where municipalities are located. For example, the municipality of Haddon Heights is located within the county of Camden. The largest box, which holds the counties and municipalities nested within it, is the state of New Jersey.

What are the powers and responsibilities of county government? A county government has many powers and responsibilities. One of the more important obligations of county government is prioritizing the safety of the residents in its communities. This includes administering and enforcing state laws, ensuring the safety of our roads, and making sure all schools, businesses, restaurants, and public buildings are inspected regularly and are repaired as needed. Other county government powers and responsibilities include collecting taxes, assessing property values, recording, and storing public documents, conducting elections, and issuing licenses for businesses, and marriages. They also have the power and responsibility of providing facilities and services for the community. Which includes community centers, public libraries, hospitals, and parks.

ABOUT CAMDEN COUNTY GOVERNMENT:

Who runs a County?

A county is run and governed by a Board of Commissioners who have authority over and responsibilities to the county. Commissioners are elected by that county's residents. Commissioners are responsible for administering the law, representing county interests at the state and federal level, participating in long-range planning, and managing the county budget and finances. Each of Camden County's seven commissioners have their own assignments and areas of focus within the county's Departments.

How does the Commission system work?

The Camden County Board of Commissioners is a board of seven people who govern Camden County, New Jersey. It is led by the director and deputy director, who are chosen by the Board of Commissioners each year. Each commissioner serves a three-year term, with the terms staggered so that only two or three commissioners run for reelection in each election cycle. This simplifies each election cycle and ensures leadership continuity.

As of January 2023, Camden County's Commissioners are:

Director Louis Cappelli Jr. (Term ends December 2023)

- Responsibilities: Leads the Commissioners and is responsible for county administration, and the public safety of county residents, working closely with the Camden County Police Department.
- Accomplishments: Commissioner Director Cappelli upgraded the county's emergency 911 system and merged the county's mental health and substance abuse programs.

Deputy Director Edward T. McDonnell (Term ends December 2025)

- Responsibilities: All county finances, including personnel, purchasing, and insurance. Deputy Director McDonnell also supervises the superintendent of elections and the Board of Elections.
- Accomplishments: A champion for programs and services for disabled people, Deputy Director McDonnell founded the first Miracle League Baseball Team in the state of New Jersey.

Commissioner Jeffrey L. Nash (Term ends December 2024)

- Responsibilities: Works with the Department of Parks and community groups. Commissioner Nash improves public access to programs while improving their overall efficiency.
- Accomplishments: Commissioner Nash led an expansion of Camden County College's campus to Camden and Cherry Hill and financed a $90 million improvement to the college's main campus in Blackwood.

Commissioner Jonathan L Young, Sr. (Term ends December 2023)

- Responsibilities and Achievements: Works closely with the Department of Public Safety, the Department of Corrections, the Juvenile Detention Center, the One-Stop Career Center, the Workforce Development board, and the Department of Sustainability, as well as with the Camden County Animal Shelter.

Commissioner Melinda Kane (Term ends December 2024)

- Responsibilities: Oversees the Office of Veterans Affairs, the Construction Board of Appeals, the Library Commission, and the Cultural & Heritage Commission.

Commissioner Al Dyer (Term ends December 2024)

- Responsibilities: Commissioner Dyer's primary assignments include working closely with the Department of Public Works, the Camden County Planning Board, and the Mayors' Association.

Commissioner Virginia Betteridge (Term ends December 2025)

- Responsibilities: Commissioner Betteridge's primary assignments are oversight of the Department of Children, the Department of Health and Human Services, and the Board of Social Services.

ABOUT CAMDEN COUNTY ROW OFFICERS:

Row officers are elected officials that investigate city finances, run elections, keep records and manage foreclosures in the city.

County Clerk Joseph Ripa:

As County Clerk, Joe has managed the process of updating and modernizing the Clerk's Office, paying special attention to the office's energy efficiency, staff productivity, and technology use. He also works on encouraging active voter participation through the Camden County Vote By Mail Program.

As the keeper of the records for the county, the Clerk's Office has two major divisions: the Registry Division and the Election Division. The Registry (Real Estate Recording) Division handles all matters pertaining to the land records of the county as a Constitutional Row Officer. The Election Division handles an array of election services and statutory responsibilities as prescribed by the legislature and the State Constitution.

Sheriff Gilbert "Whip" Wilson:

The Camden County Office of the Sheriff provides a variety of law enforcement services and support using state of the art technology in a prompt, efficient and courteous manner to the county's residents and visitors. The office also works with various agencies and departments throughout the county, state and country. The staff of 194 includes 157 sworn officers and 29 civilian staff.

The Sheriff's Office's responsibilities are mandated by statute and include functions in both civil and criminal areas of the law such as: Court Security Bureau, Investigations Bureau, Bureau of Criminal Identification, Civil Process Bureau, Transportation Bureau.

The Sheriff's Office also provides ancillary services including: Probation/Child Support Units, Technical Service Unit (Bomb Squad), Canine (K-9) Unit (drug and bomb sniffing dogs)/Patrol Division, Camden County Emergency Response Team (S.E.R.T)

Surrogate Michelle Gentek-Mayer:

Michelle Gentek-Mayer has served as Surrogate of Camden County Surrogate Court since 2016. Her work focuses on community outreach, with the goal of ensuring that Camden County residents have access to the services and tools needed for successfully resolving legal matters including adoptions, guardianships, and estate planning. Under Surrogate Gentek-Mayer, the department has offered community education opportunities such as The Conversation of a Lifetime (an estate-planning workshop), improved services for the county's Spanish-speaking residents, and the opening of an additional satellite office in Voorhees.

Prosecutor Grace C. MacAulay:

The Camden County Prosecutor is a constitutional officer appointed by New Jersey's Governor. The county prosecutors' term of office is five years. The Prosecutor's Office investigates and prosecutes all indictable crime in this county of about 523,700 residents. Camden County, which includes the urban environment of Camden, inner-ring suburbs and still-growing bedroom communities, is a diverse region in Southern New Jersey. As a result the Prosecutor's Office's dedicated, professional staff must be flexible and quick to adjust to the needs of its residents. The State Office of Counterterrorism has also designated the prosecutor as the coordinator of counter-terrorism efforts for local police departments in the county.
